

Tom began his career as an actor, working with directors as diverse as Woody Allen, Michael Apted, Stephen Sommers, and James Ivory. Alongside his acting, Tom began to write and direct short films. Tom's first feature as writer-director, RADIATOR, premiered at the London Film Festival in 2014, and went on to win numerous awards and pick up glowing reviews when released by Picturehouse in 2015. Tom was nominated in the Best Newcomer category by The London Critics Circle and The Evening Standard.

Praise for RADIATOR

...Absorbing, subtle, and outstandingly acted... tremendously intelligent...

The Guardian - Pick of the Week.

A harshly compelling melodrama that floats between Michael Haneke's Amour and the plays of Samuel Beckett... The Times

Masterful... Sight and Sound

...the hilarious script - as nuanced and heartbreaking as a great novel... The Standard

...moments of heart breaking sadness and dark, laugh-out-loud comedy... Empire

One of the best British films of the year... The Daily Express
