

Tim Telling

the Agency

Agent Tanya Tillett (ttillett@theagency.co.uk)

Tim was formerly editor of The Daily Mash - the UK's most popular satirical website - which transitioned to television as The Mash Report (BBC2), where he served as lead writer/exec producer. Running for five series, The Mash Report was nominated for two BAFTAs and its popular popular sketches were the BBC's all-time most viral content, notching up hundreds of millions of views.

Tim currently has multiple features in development/production, including The Scurry (Water & Power/Cliff Edge - currently in pre-production), What We Did in The Summer (Film4/Water & Power) and The Murders at Rook Hall (The Development Partnership).

He has also television projects in development with Avalon and Bandit Productions.
